ENCOUNTER BETWEEN
TESTA AND AYRES

An Advertiser Writer Charged by Independent's Proprietor with Violating Confidence Retorts with Threats of Violence.

"F. J. Testa, proprietor of the Independent, states that he has been selected by the Home Rule Party to run for the Senate. Testa will certainly be a big man in his party and can make a showing. The announcement that he is the Independent's choice for the upper house came from Testa's own lips, and was backed with the assertion that he was a sure winner."

The foregoing is one of the political notes in this morning's Advertiser. Mr. Testa was met at the post office by a Bulletin reporter, who asked him if the statement was authentic. He replied that he had heard of it but had not read the item. The statement attributed to him, however, was not made for publication. He had joshed with the Advertiser reporter as to his possible candidacy, just as the present interviewer had known him to do when visiting the Bulletin editorial room.

H. M. Ayres, a space writer on the Advertiser, came along while Mr. Testa was examining his lock box. He accosted Mr. Testa, who repulsed him with the remark:

"You have broken faith with me and I will have nothing more to do with you."

Mr. Ayres retorted: "If you say I broke faith with you, I'll smash your face."

Mr. Testa stepped quickly up to his fiery accoster and not only dared him to smash his face, but told him he would reduce him to a mess of English mince if he ventured to carry out his threat. "You start in," was Mr. Testa's defiance.

Mr. Ayres moved away a few steps and said, "You are too old and too fat."

Mr. Testa again denounced his antagonist for breach of confidence and, as they walked off in opposite ways, warned him not to cross his path again.

PORTUGUESE MISSION

CELEBRATION OF TENTH ANNIVERSARY

Remarkable Growth from Small Beginning — Miss Knight the Originator — Interesting Addresses.

An auspicious celebration was held at the Protestant church for Portuguese Punchbowl and Miller streets, yesterday evening. It was that of the tenth anniversary of systematic religious effort among the Portuguese colony by the people attached to the churches affiliated as the Hawaiian Evangelical Association.

The church building itself, where a large congregation came to the exercises, is the most conspicuous exhibit of success to the movement. It is a comely edifice of goodly proportions and commodious internal arrangements.

Opening devotional exercises were conducted by Dr. S. S. Bishop, Revs. J. Leaningham and E. G. Silva. Hymns were sung in the vernacular of Portugal, a chorus of little Portuguese girls in white taking part.

Jos. B. Atherton gave a history of the mission. Its author was Miss Eunice D. Knight, sister of Mrs. C. M. Hyde. She started it with a Sunday school, Messrs. Basqueville, Martin and Gonsalves assisting her. B. F. Dillingham and A. F. Cooke later superintended the school. A small chapel of the natives was the original gathering place. In 1890 Rev. and Mrs. Soares and Rev. Mr. Pires arrived, the first ordained missionaries, from Springfield, Illinois. Today besides the beautiful church the mission maintains three schoolrooms and a kindergarten.

SAND AND TRASH
IN TABLE SPICES

Nothing Can Be Done About Watered Milk from Wagons—Condition of Water from Different Sources.

The following is an abstract of the report of Food Inspector Shorey read at the Board of Health meeting: "From the 22d to the end of the month twenty-eight samples were examined."

Here the analyses are given in detail, but have no public interest.

"Several of the samples are evidently watered," continues the report, "but as the samples were taken from the wagon and not from milk actually seen delivered to customers, nothing could be done."

"The inspection of grocery stores begun in July has been continued, sixteen stores in Kakaako and Kewalo having been inspected. A number of samples of ground spices have been examined as follows:

"Ground cinnamon—Six examined; two adulterated.
"Ground pepper—Six examined; two adulterated.
"Ground cloves—One examined; pure.
"Ground ginger—One examined; pure.
"Ground mustard—One examined; adulterated.

"The adulterated spices are as follows:

"Ground cinnamon—
"1. Malabar cinnamon, manufactured by Novelty mills, San Francisco, Cal.; contains a larger proportion of sand than could be present by accident.
"2. Ground cinnamon—J. F. Martin, London; contains a larger proportion of sand than could be present by accident.

"Ground pepper—
"1. Malabar pepper, manufactured by Novelty mills, San Francisco, Cal.; contains besides pepper, ground olive stones, woody fibre and charcoal.
"2. Crescent pepper—Lege & Mills, San Francisco, Cal.; contains besides pepper, ground olive stones, mustard hulls and wheat starch, probably in the shape of cracker dust.

"Ground mustard—
"1. Pure mustard, S. H. Tyler & Sons; contains a large amount of wheat starch and a little turmeric.
"Two samples of paint intended for use on galvanized iron roofs were examined to determine whether the use of rainwater from roofs coated with this paint for drinking purposes would be injurious. Pieces of galvanized iron were painted with the samples and when dry were allowed to stand in distilled water for two days and the water examined. The water was found to have dissolved a small amount of lime compound which enters into the composition of the paint. No traces of lead, zinc or arsenic were found and I am of the opinion that the use of the paint in the way mentioned would not be injurious.

The analyses of the two samples of water, one from Nuuanu reservoir and one from Palolo valley, were completed and are as follows:

	Parts per Million	Nuuanu, Palolo.
Total solids.....	120,000	122,000
Chlorine.....	23,000	34,000
Free ammonia.....	0.060	0.010
Albuminoid ammonia.....	0.330	0.100
Nitrate.....	0.220	0.170
Nitrite.....	trace	none
Required oxygen.....	0.750	2.5
Hardness.....	55,500	72,150

"The analysis of the Nuuanu valley water shows conclusively that the water is contaminated with animal organic matter from some source. I am not well enough acquainted with the locality to suggest the source. It might be from human habitations, from fields in which horses or cattle run, or by wash from a road. The point is not that the water analyzed is necessarily bad, but that there is a way open by which infection may reach it. The Palolo valley water is good, although it contains vegetable debris."

OPPOSED TO INDEPENDENCE.

Havana, Sept. 7. — Senor Lanuza, former secretary of justice, who was recently asked to represent the republican party of Cienfuegos in the forthcoming constitutional convention, published today a private letter written last April, in which he gives his reason for not joining the republicans. He takes this step in order to explain his exact position:

"I do not join the republican party because I do not agree with the two principal ideas of that party, namely: The immediate cessation of intervention and the immediate accession of absolute independence. If intervention were to cease before Cuba had become well established upon a sound economic basis, then dark days would be in store for us. After the republic is established the United States should maintain for some time international relations with Cuba, especially with reference to Cuba's dealings with other countries, and should also have the right of approving or disapproving Cuban loans above a certain amount.

"Moreover, the American government should uphold Cuba before the world. Indeed, if the United States were not to do these things the prospects would be gloomy. What is needed is a frank avowal from Washington that the United States will guarantee sound and efficient government in Cuba. This is requisite to a restoration of confidence.
